MEETING THE HOUSING NEEDS OF LOMA LINDA RESIDENTS

Do you have ideas about how to respond to housing challenges in our city?

Loma Linda is updating its long-range housing plan, called the Housing Element, and invites the community to participate. Join the City Council and Planning Commission on March 9 at an online workshop to learn about the Housing Element and to share your ideas about how the City can best address the housing needs of all Loma Linda residents—today and in the future.

Community input is critical to developing a housing plan that responds to community needs, values, and preferences. Your ideas could shape Loma Linda for years to come!

What is a Housing Element?

The Housing Element is a citywide housing plan that describes Loma Linda's housing-related needs and resources. The City revisits this plan every eight years to make sure programs are in place to respond to demands for new housing, housing maintenance, and equal access to housing.
